

PAPER SUBMISSION
for the journal of scientific papers “Book Qualilogy” issued by Ukrainian Academy of Printing

<http://kk.uad.lviv.ua>

The papers in Ukrainian or English, which were not previously published in other journals (including electronic ones), written at a high scientific level and having an important theoretical and practical significance, are accepted for publishing in the Journal. The content of the papers should correspond to the profile and direction of the Journal, and have a high scientific and theoretical level.

The paper should be designed in the following order:

1. Index of Universal Decimal Classification (UDC).
2. Title of the paper (approximately 10 words; without abbreviations; strictly corresponds to the content of the paper).
3. Names and surnames of the author (-s).
4. The name of the educational institution or research institution where the research has been performed, including mailing address.
5. Abstract in the original language (900-1100 printed characters with one single spacing).

When preparing the abstract it is necessary to take into account the following ideas:

- the text of the abstract must be concise and clear, free from less important information;
- the abstract gives an opportunity to get an idea of the main content of the paper, which sometimes eliminates the need to read the overall material.

Abstracts are used to find documents and information in search engines, (including automated systems).

6. Keywords in the original language (approximately 5-10 words).
7. The text of the paper, structured in accordance with the requirements of: Resolution of the Presidium of the Higher Attestation Commission of Ukraine from 15.01.2003 . №7-05/01.

The problem statement should reflect the relevance of the subject matter, its connection with the most important theoretical, scientific and practical tasks, the importance of the development of a certain field of science and practice.

The analysis of the latest researches and publications should contain references to reputable scholars involved in the research of the relevant scientific problem, a brief overview of the main studies and publications available in the list of sources attached to the scientific paper referred to by the author, a synthesis of modern opinions concerning the problem. The analysis of studies and publications are completed by the allocation of discussion points, the difficulties in developing this issue, the unsolved tasks within the general problem considered to the paper.

The aim of the paper is a description of the main idea of the publication, the ways it differs, complements and deepens already known approaches, and highlights new facts and regularities; the aim of the paper arises from the statement of the general problem and the review of previously performed research.

The main material of the research is the main part of the paper, which covers the main statements and results of scientific research, personal ideas, opinions, obtained scientific facts, methodological approaches and results of their approbation, methods to get and analyse the actual material.

Conclusions. The paper should contain specific conclusions and recommendations that briefly summarize the material presented in the main part and/or in the prospect of further research.

8. List of sources used is provided according to the National Standards of Ukraine 8302: 2015 “Information and documentation. Bibliographic link. General requirements and rules of drafting”. The list is written in the original language in the sequence of quotation to the relevant sources in the text of the paper. All quotation references must be mentioned in the text. Any statistics data must be mentioned in the reference page. Quotations in the text are indicated only in square brackets, for example: [1, 6], [1, p. 5], [4, p. 5; 8, pp. 10–11].

- The list of sources should contain six titles; in addition, foreign sources are desirable. It is recommended to use quotations from the journals included in international scientific databases, in particular, Scopus and Web of Science.
- The editorial board recommends to avoid references to:
 - laws, regulations, instructions or deeds because the subject of discussion and the opponent are unclear;
 - textbooks and tutorials, especially published earlier containing unclear fact found by the author of the paper (the scientist!) in the student textbook, concerning the latest development of the subject of discussion;
 - theses (published 7-10 years ago and more), since this does not indicate the relevance of the research and does not allow talking about the completeness of the problem. Such quotations are relevant in the fundamental works (monographs, textbooks), where the history of the origin and development of the topic can be considered. The journal papers should include the most recent results of the world research;
- Today, the attention of international community of scientists is drawn to the lack of references to the papers published in well-known international journals. In this case, the review of the researched problem is carried out by the author within one country, which does not allow considering the completeness and significance of the research results presented in the paper.

9. REFERENCES (sources in the Latin language) is written as an absolutely separate unit, repeating the list of sources provided in the national language, regardless the presence of foreign sources in it, or not. If there are quotations to foreign publications, they are completely repeated in the reference, in the Latin alphabet.

References are made in accordance with the APA (American Psychological Association (APA) Style) when the year of publication is in round brackets after the author's name. It is impossible to use quotation marks in the description elements (only inverted commas (" ")), or replace the Latin letters with Cyrillic ones.

It is recommended to use automatic transliteration systems:

- the transliteration of the Ukrainian text in Latin is carried out in accordance with the Resolution of the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine No. 55 dated January 27, 2010. (<http://translit.kh.ua/#passport>);
- the transliteration of the Russian text in Latin is carried out by means of US State Department system (<https://translit.net/ru/?account=zagranpasport>).

10. After the ENGLISH references, the following information should be provided:

- Title of paper
- Name and surname of the author (-s).

It is obligatory to provide the author (s) name in English in accordance with the international passport or other official documents. It is due to the need for the correct writing of the author's name and surname in all of his/her publications in order to correctly determine the quotation index.

- The name of the Educational Institution or Research Institution, where the study has been performed, and its address.
- Author (s) e-mail
- Extended abstract (at least 1800 characters, including keywords) in English (or in Ukrainian, if the paper is written in English).

- In case the journal is multilingual, every article published in other language than English should contain abstract in English of total length not less than 1800 characters, including keywords. In case the journal is multilingual, every article published in other language than Ukrainian should contain abstract in Ukrainian of total length not less than 1800 characters, including keywords.

- Remember that the summary written in languages other than the language of the article is the only source of information about the content and the obtained results of the research, for scholars who do not know the language of the article.

11. Date of the paper receiving.
